

Fall in love with dentistry again

Private dentistry is booming, but an increasing regulatory environment makes growth complex and time consuming

“This genuine partnership has also given us the gift of time, which we are using to fulfil career pathways we may not have otherwise had the chance to pursue”

Rahul Doshi

Principal and Multi Practice Owner

Dentex is the only UK corporate that enables dentists to retain independence while sharing the clinical, financial and operational benefits as part of a larger collegiate dental group. The fundamental difference of our model is that, as equity holders, our partners have a say in the business – they aren't just employees. This approach cascades through every element of how we work with our dentists and embraces their ethos, their practice brand, right down to the materials they choose use and how their team are arranged.

Along with exceptional wealth creation opportunities, Dentex offers substantial benefits so you can enjoy the dentistry you always wanted – without a lot of the burden.

Become a part of our story and we will help write yours.
